Akomabou Blaise Mouzoun, in the name of Jesus Christ and by the authority of the Melchizedek priesthood and in my calling as patriarch, I lay my hands upon your head and bestow on you your patriarchal blessing. This blessing will guide you in this life and keep you on the path of eternal life.

The priesthood you bear is a great blessing. It affords you the special privilege of standing tall as a vessel and instrument of the lord in serving fellow humans. You came unto this world with talents and capacities that will enable you serve effectively. Seek to discover these talents. They will blossom as you serve sacrificially and with all you might. Seek always to place the things of God first. Give of your time, energy and other needed resources freely for the kingdom's sake. Great shall be your joy and reward if you do.

Your calling as a priest of God is a calling to be a teacher and preacher of righteousness. Therefore live a life that is in conformity with holiness and righteousness.

Your decision to serve a full time mission is pleasing unto the lord. Your time in the mission field shall be a special learning period. You will acquire great knowledge and experiences during this time. Your testimony will grow and so shall your love for others. Your tongue will be loosened as you testify with power and authority of God.

You will return home from mission stronger and more determined to live more righteously. You will have a greater desire to follow the saviour's path and a stronger desire to serve others and to endure to the end. You will rejoice as you serve. You shall find strength and comfort in your coming and in your going. I assure you that if you serve faithfully, and with an eye single to the glory of God the very Heaven shall shake for your good.

Akomabou Blaise Mouzoun, you seek for the blessings of the lord in this life that you may have success and be able to overcome the tests and trials of mortal life. Then you must anchor your life on the saviour Jesus Christ and pursue the path of holiness, righteousness, sexual purity and obedience to the commandments of God. If you do this you will have a secure future and will not fear what Satan will devise on your path, for the good lord will lead you by the hand and give you answers to your prayer.

Beware, for Lucifer will attempt to subject you to influences that are not of God. He will attempt to make you lose your testimony. Be strong and resolute in rejecting evil. Stand in holy places.

You will delight in the scriptures which shall be for you a source of great strength and comfort. Your regular prayers of faith shall bring peace in your life and open doors of choice blessings. As you partake of the sacrament constantly with a broken heart and contrite spirit you will be renewed and restored spiritually and find the power to resist evil and temptation.

You should seek the best education that you can possibly attain always bearing in mind that if you are focused, diligent, hard working and determined you can achieve excellence in your chosen field. Your education and training to acquire vital work skills shall open doors of opportunities for you and make you to be self-reliant.

You will be a blessing to your immediate and extended family. You have work to do in uniting them all in the spirit of love. Your selfless services and kind words shall heal family wounds. Your sincere bold testimonies of the Saviour shall bring many family members to the knowledge of the true gospel.

The time shall come when you will be led to your eternal companion by the spirit of the lord if you live worthy of this joy. Lead her to the temple that the two of you shall be bound in a covenant relationship. Be true and faithful to her. Keep your marriage covenant that your marriage may flourish and be fruitful.

You shall have great interest in creating a Christ-centred, gospel-rooted home. This desire shall cause you to live by example and spend quality time in your home teaching the gospel.

Akomabou Blaise Mouzoun, I bless you to have the peace of God abide with you as you stay on the path of righteousness. Your righteousness will increase your spiritual sensitivity. Thus your ears shall open to hear the still small voice of the spirit as it seeks to guide you along the strait and narrow path and reveal to you the will and mind of God concerning the affairs of your life.

I bless you to increase and grow in your faith in Jesus Christ. You will have a determination to love and serve him. You will live to experience the cleansening power of his atonement as you repent of your sins and keep his commandments.

Beware of the carnal standards of the world. They lead to pain and misery. You will find true progress and happiness as you continually treasure in your heart and act on the truths you have been taught. Remember and treasure too those special spiritual experiences. Surely the gospel standard will keep you safe and fortify you against the evil that is in the world.

Akomabou Blaise Mouzoun, you are a descendant of Abraham and of the lineage of Ephraim. This lineage qualified you for this patriarchal blessing.

If you would remain temple worthy and live your baptismal and temple covenants, if you would be faithful in observing the commandments of God, the blessing of this day will be fruitful in your life and the lord will invite you to rise in the first resurrection and dwell in his presence.

I seal this blessing upon you in the name of Jesus Christ, Amen.
